City Marshai Holmes noticed Wednesday evening in a Boston paper of March 29, that a maniae named James McGur nigle had escaped from the Howard, H 1 , insane hospital a week ago Friday, and had succeeded in eluding the potice and detectives of both Massachusetts and Rhode Island since that time.

The description published in the paper is similar to that of the man arrested there. McGannigie was put into the hospital for burning a church in Rhode

Sunday evening this man, it is reported, visited three churches in Ells-worth within a short time, made remarks to the ministers in the midst of the services and then departed. McGunnigle was employed as walter while kept in custody in Rhode Island. WINTER WITH US.

An April Snow Storm Which Was Not Appreciated.

Heavy Fall of Snow Flakes all Hight with Bad Effect on Wires.

Bangor Cut Off from Communication by Wire with West Some Time.

Old Winter evidently hates to give up his grip and last night's storm was an a storm as that which began early last Yesterday afternoon was life. cloudy and late in the afternoon a few falkes of snow felt, and in a few hours the ground was white as it was snowing for the freeth day he cry of humanity for business at the old stand.

during the night, with the trees, shrubbery, wires and everything with their coating of white-quite like a glimpse into fairy land, we should judge, making allowance for our limited experience in the latter place, Several inches of snow fell and this morning as we go to press it is still storming. The weather predictions say

It was a beautiful sight about town

Siearing and colder weather to-day and If that colder should happen to be a cold wave the telegraph wires and telephone wires will be in bud shape Last night the wires worked badly and for some time Banger had no communication with any place west, not even Augusta or places nearer this city. The United Press wire was lost about 9 30 o'clock and was not recovered until after midnight, whileh out off consider able of our press report The Postal Telegraph wires also went down and it was not until about midalght that one wire was ugain secured They had only one wire after midnight East of Bango the storm had not affected the wires so disastrously just night. The wires are could and longed down with the heavy, dampendw, which is about the worst state of things imaginable for telegraph'e ervice.

The wires "bust," as they say at the telegraph office, ugaio about 2 10 this morning. The innemen may have to go out today with brooms and sweep the snow off the wires, a facetious telegraph man suggested

Roukland reported a gale blowing there all night and snowing hard. The wind blew hard here all night and 't was very hard traveling

About town some of the electric wires were dragged down and the electric current was cut off the light section so that there might be no danger of fire from crossed wires. The electric street cars were run all night to keep the trolley wire in good shape and clear the track This storm is certainly a decided setback, coming just as people had fondly imagined that all big snow storms were over for this season and that spring, gentle spring, about which the posts sing, was really treeding on our heefe

Wheelmen were getting out their wheels and the ice was expected to go out at once and summer seemed almost bursting But, oh what a difference in the morning—this morning However it is probable that this state of things will not last much longer It has been a funny old winter and spring so far, und no mistake and as one can judge of the future only by the past there may yet be in store for us an odd job of weather
